

One Man with Three Women at Night

21. During the nighttime, as well as when one is on the road, one man is not even allowed to be alone with three women. It would only be permitted if he is with four women. (The definition of “nighttime” and “on the road” was explained in a previous email.)

22. In a time of need, when four women are not present and no other solution to the problem of yichud is available, one should ask a Rav if he may be alone with three women under these specific circumstances.
